

Maryland taxpayers spend approximately $288 million to incarcerate 7,794 people from Baltimore City. The burden of incarceration is disproportionately felt by some communities. The same communities that experience incarceration most acutely also have the greatest challenges serving their residents. Rather than spend millions of dollars to incarcerate people from each of these communities, the funds could, instead, be invested in education, workforce development, treatment, and housing services.

Investments in Opportunity for Midtown

For what taxpayers spend on incarceration in Midtown, Baltimore City could invest in an array of programs and resources already available to help address community challenges.

	Cost per person	Number that could be served with $2,405,000
Drug treatment for adults	$4,494	535 adults
Employment training	$5,000	481 people
Housing (per month)	$1,252	1,921 families
GED course	$1,000	2,405 students
